The Hard Cost

- Non-compliance with DOT regulations is not only a safety hazard, consider this: DOT employers are liable to the United States for a civil penalty in an amount not to exceed $10,000 for each offense.
- A leading national retail store paid $102,048 in monetary relief for failing to provide reasonable accommodation for applicants or employees in the company's drug testing processes.
- In California, a court ruled that a random drug test administered violated a fundamental right to privacy, which is protected by the California Constitution, and therefore exceeded the risks and expectations inherent in the employment relationship. The Plaintiffs were awarded approximately $15,000 each for noneconomic damages.

The Cost To Your Reputation

If you still think you can risk being non-compliant, can you afford the damage to your company's reputation? In today's world of fast-paced information through countless social media outlets, the cost of the negative publicity of a high-profile accident or court case is a cost most companies are ill-prepared to bear.

We Make It Easy

Let our professional consulting team quickly and affordably update your existing policy or work with you to create a new one.

Our Mission

Current Consulting Group (Current) partners with employers to help them achieve their drug-free workplace objectives. This includes developing drug testing policies that are compliant with all applicable state laws and federal regulations, training supervisors and employees on the dangers of workplace substance abuse, and ensuring their drug testing program is functioning properly and producing a positive return on investment.

Increase Your Confidence with Current Consulting Group's Comprehensive Compliance Services

Employers working in regulated and safety-sensitive industries face many challenges when assembling and maintaining a compliance program. Current Consulting Group (Current) addresses all aspects of your compliance requirements. In addition to Current's well-known policy and drug and alcohol consulting and DOT-compliant training, we offer program assessments (mock audits) and training to DOT-regulated and non-DOT companies.

Training and Education

Training is a critical requirement for regulated industries. Current offers online, remote, and on-site training that meets DOT requirements and non-DOT laws in all 50 states. Our online training portal can be custom-branded, or we can work with your existing learning management system to ensure conformity with existing training requirements.

Mock Auditing/Assessment Services

Non-compliance is a costly mistake. Yet so many employers don't know who to turn to for help when they need it most. Current's Compliance Services offer nationwide, in-person "mock" audits for all DOT agencies and DFWP employers. We can assist in staying in compliance with documentation, logging, and reporting requirements. Mock audits can be scheduled in preparation for an upcoming audit or annually to ensure compliance.

EXPERIENCE

With over 150 years of combined experience, Current has the most experienced team of smart, well-connected, and innovative consultants in the industry.

FLEXIBILITY

Whether you use Current's standard content or need custom solutions for your workplace, Current offers creative solutions to fit any employer's needs.

COMMITMENT

We've earned our reputation. We are committed to your success, and will do whatever it takes to get you the results you need.

CONNECTIONS

Our clients conduct over 20 million drug tests annually. We can assist you in selecting testing providers, SAP services, policies, training, and all other substance abuse program needs.
